Retina: the Journal of Retinal and Vitreous Diseases

RETINA® focuses exclusively on the growing specialty of vitreoretinal disorders, providing current information on diagnostic and therapeutic techniques.

Source: Lippincott Williams & Wilkins (LWW)

Author(s): Brucker, Alexander J.

ISSN: 0275004X    EISSN: 15392864

Retina’s highly specialized and informative, peer-reviewed articles are easily applicable to clinical practice. In addition to regular reports from clinical and basic science investigators, RETINA® publishes special features including periodic review articles on pertinent topics, special articles dealing with surgical and other therapeutic techniques, and abstract cards. Issues are abundantly illustrated in vivid full color.
