Readers will come away with a clear understanding of the practical applications of epidemiology as it relates to the reproductive health system.

This book provides healthcare educators, leaders, and clinicians with the specific knowledge and tools vital for creating and advocating for quality-centric, next-generation healthcare organizations.

Divided into seven sections, this book features over 30 case studies that explore real-world scenarios faced by healthcare marketing executives.

Ideal as a supplement to any text on health care supervision, these case studies bring to life the day-to-day issues faced by health care managers and supervisors working on the front lines to help your students understand the practical application of management concepts. The book is also useful as a primary text for continuing education by working health care managers.

Offering careful, step-by-step instructions for calculations using Microsoft Excel, this hands-on resource begins with basic foundational competencies in statistics, and then walks the reader through forecasting, designing and analyzing systems, and project analysis.

Using actual examples from hospitals, long-term care facilities, and home health agencies, this user-friendly text includes practical information for the non-financial manager charged with budgeting.

Written from a healthcare manager’s perspective, this book introduces the reader to the behavioral science literature relevant to the study of individual and group behavior, ideal for graduate-level study.

Here’s a comprehensive, essential resource for the next generation of healthcare managers. It includes a review of the most recent healthcare legislation, a trove of industry case studies, and a vital new chapter on the managerial challenges of 21st century healthcare consumerism.

While addressing the global issues and trends in social marketing, the book highlights successful health behavior change campaigns launched by governments, by a combination of governments, NGOs, and businesses, or by citizens themselves in five continents.
